Samui Quad Motor ATV Safari

Climb aboard one of the 250cc quads and get ready for an adventure. Following your guide, you'll traverse through coconut plantations and fruit orchards. Carving your way through streams and following trails all the way to the top of the summit, you can stop for something to eat at any of the small Thai cafes that decorate your route.

In rainy season, where brief downpours are expected in the afternoon (most days), you'll find the terrain a lot more challenging as surfaces become wet, slippery and sometimes muddy. You might get a bit dirty but it all adds to the unforgettable experience of an ATV safari.
